"and so she took a ring from her finger and placed it in his hands"

Eulogy to the late President, John F. Kennedy, by Senator Michael J. Mansfield, on Sunday, November 24, 1963, in the Rotunda of the United States Capitol

There was a sound of laughter; in a moment, it was no more. And so she took a ring from her finger and placed it in his hands.

There was a wit in a man neither young nor old, but a wit full of an old man's wisdom and of a child's wisdom, and then, in a moment it was no more. And so she took a ring from her finger and placed it in his hands.

There was a man marked with the scars of his love of country, a body active with the surge of a life far, far from spent and, in a moment it was no more. And so she took a ring from her finger and placed it in his hands.

There was a father with a little boy, a little girl and a joy of each in the other. In a moment it was no more, and so she took a ring from her finger and placed it in his hands.

There was a husband who asked much and gave much, and out of the giving and the asking wove with a woman what could not be broken in life, and in a moment it was no more. And so she took a ring from her finger and placed it in his hands, and kissed him and closed the lid of a coffin.

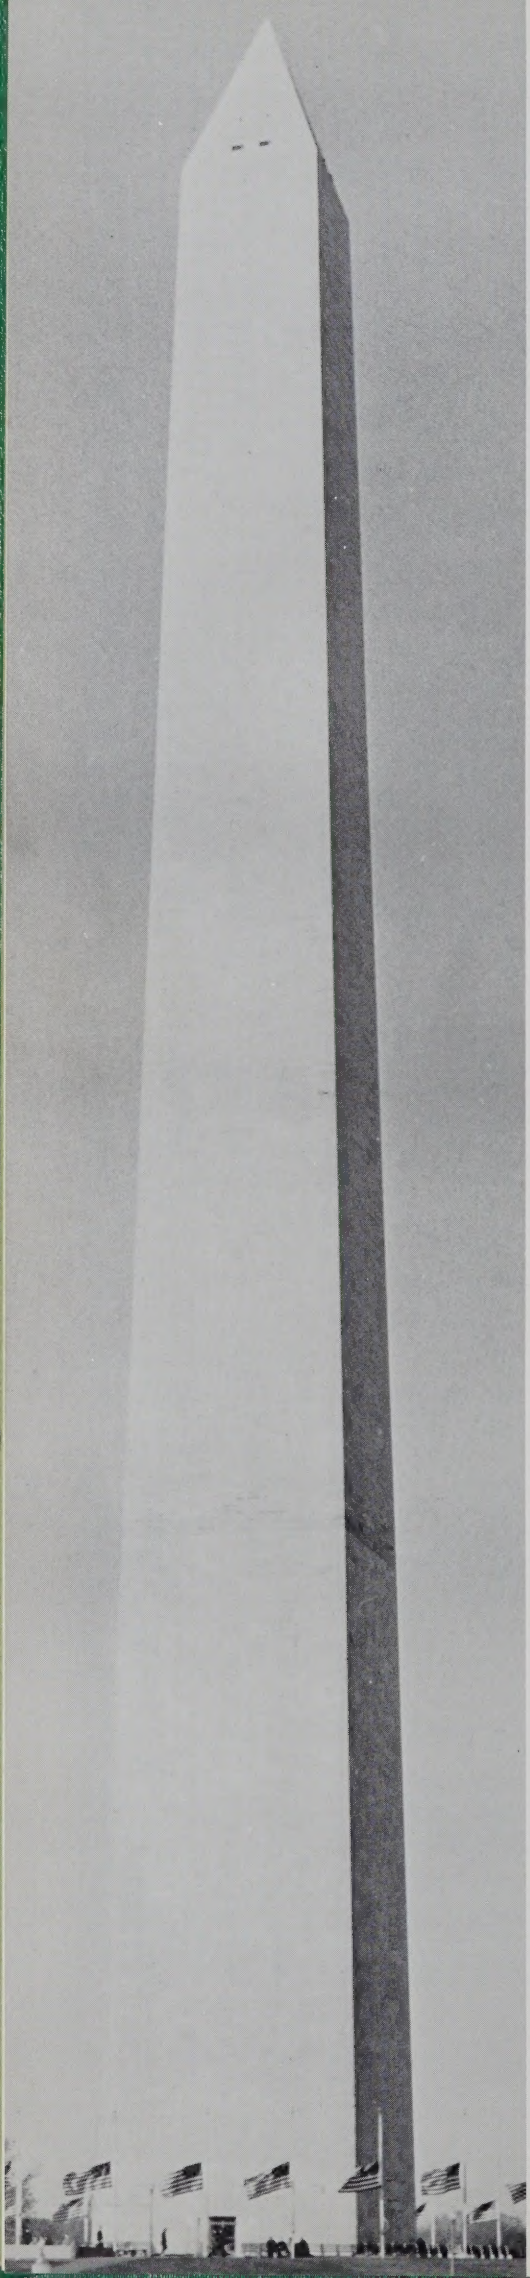
A piece of each of us died at that moment. Yet, in death he gave of himself to us. He gave us of a good heart from which the laughter came. He gave us of a profound wit, from which a great leadership emerged. He gave us of a kindness and a strength fused into a human courage to seek peace without fear.

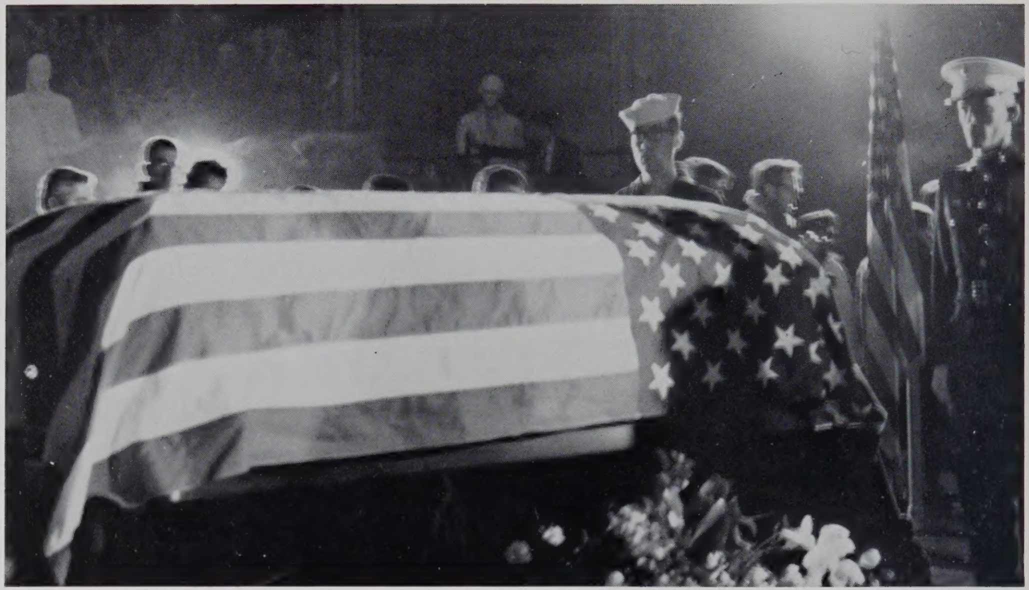
He gave us of his love that we, too, in turn, might give. He gave that we might give of ourselves, that we might give to one another until there would be no room, no room at all, for the bigotry, the hatred, prejudice and the arrogance which converged in that moment of horror to strike him down.

In leaving us—these gifts, John Fitzgerald Kennedy, President of the United States, leaves with us. Will we take them, Mr. President? Will we have, now, the sense and the responsibility and the courage to take them?

I pray to God that we shall and under God we will.

Mike Mansfield



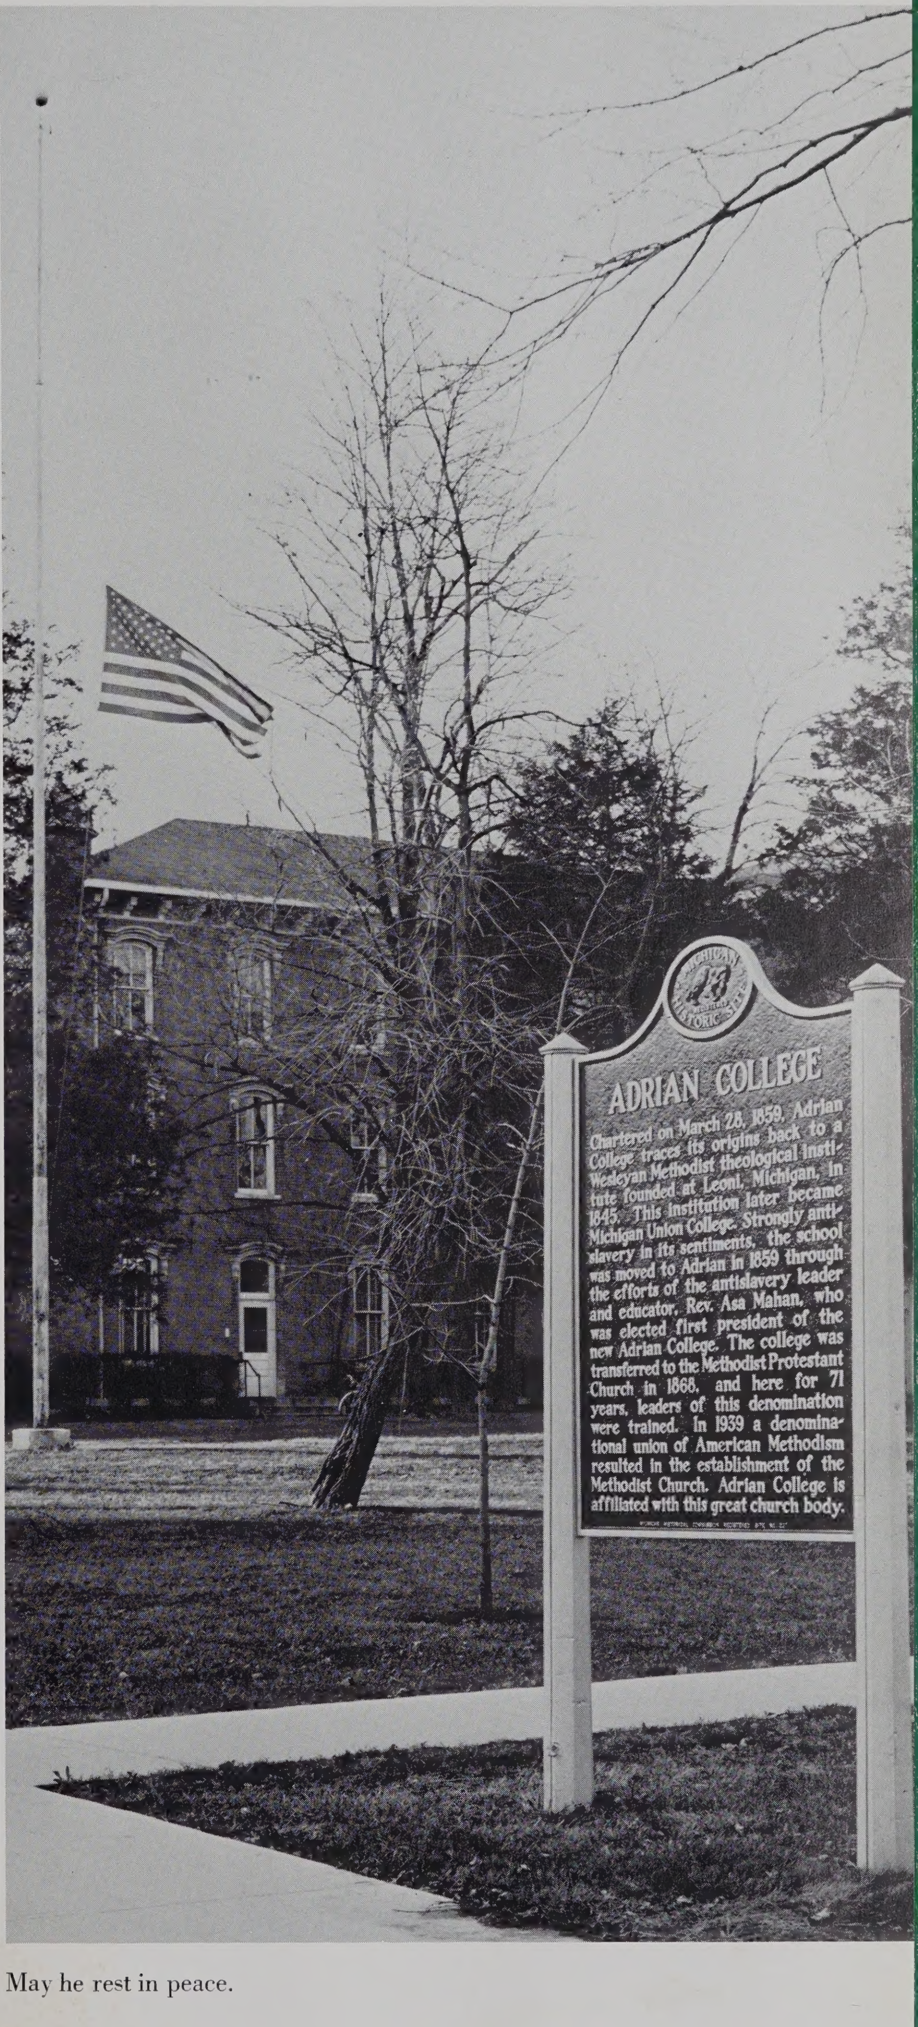


“For which we stand . . .”

Through the years America has stood for freedom and justice for all. November 22, 1963 will stand foremost in our minds throughout this generation and generations to come as the day President John F. Kennedy was felled by an assassin's bullet. He stood as an example for all the world to follow. Following his death, this country stood in a state of shock. Even Washington monument seemed a little smaller towering as a symbol of our first president.

As the slain president's body lay at state in the capital rotunda, selected members of the armed services stood their death watch, while people from all walks of life stood with their heads bowed, waiting to pay their final respects. Even as the cassion rolled along the road to Arlington, the streets were lined with people who stood silent with only the sound of muffled drums breaking that silence.

Students from Adrian felt it their patriotic duty to share this time of grief and joined the thousands of other Americans in Washington, while back in Adrian the campus stood idle and the students stood in reverence throughout the period of mourning. President Dawson led a special memorial service and classes were cancelled as the college paid its final tribute to the late President.



MICHIGAN HISTORIC SITE
ADRIAN COLLEGE
Chartered on March 28, 1859, Adrian College traces its origins back to a Wesleyan Methodist theological institute founded at Leoni, Michigan, in 1845. This institution later became Michigan Union College. Strongly antislavery in its sentiments, the school was moved to Adrian in 1859 through the efforts of the antislavery leader and educator, Rev. Asa Mahan, who was elected first president of the new Adrian College. The college was transferred to the Methodist Protestant Church in 1868, and here for 71 years, leaders of this denomination were trained. In 1939 a denominational union of American Methodism resulted in the establishment of the Methodist Church. Adrian College is affiliated with this great church body.

May he rest in peace.

The enduring beauty in the great seal of Adrian College is rich in symbolism. LET THE LIGHT SHINE, which is the English translation of the Greek lettered motto in the arch over the door, has served as the lighthouse of students and educators for over 105 years. Through these open doors thousands of students have entered seeking the lamp of knowledge. Later, with their lives enriched with wisdom from great minds, these same people carried the torch to the four corners of the world. Countless bricks were laid in building the character of each person who passed through the arch leading from childhood to adulthood. Portrayed here are several of the bricks used in building the fortress of education during 1963 and 1964.

Let The Light Shine

Traditions are as much a part of character building as fuel is in keeping the eternal flame of education brightly burning. They are likened unto a foundation of a great building for without vigilant care and attention they will crumble to dust and the building will fall. These traditions receive new luster as ideas are transformed to reality and applied each year. Traditions which have added character to Adrian College include: Registration, Theater, Homecoming, Hanging of the Greens, All College Sing, Honors Convocations, Commencement and the Cane Ceremony. Since these traditions receive new brilliance each year it becomes necessary to annually present them pictorially thus recording them for posterity.

Ridge Gym was calm before the storm.

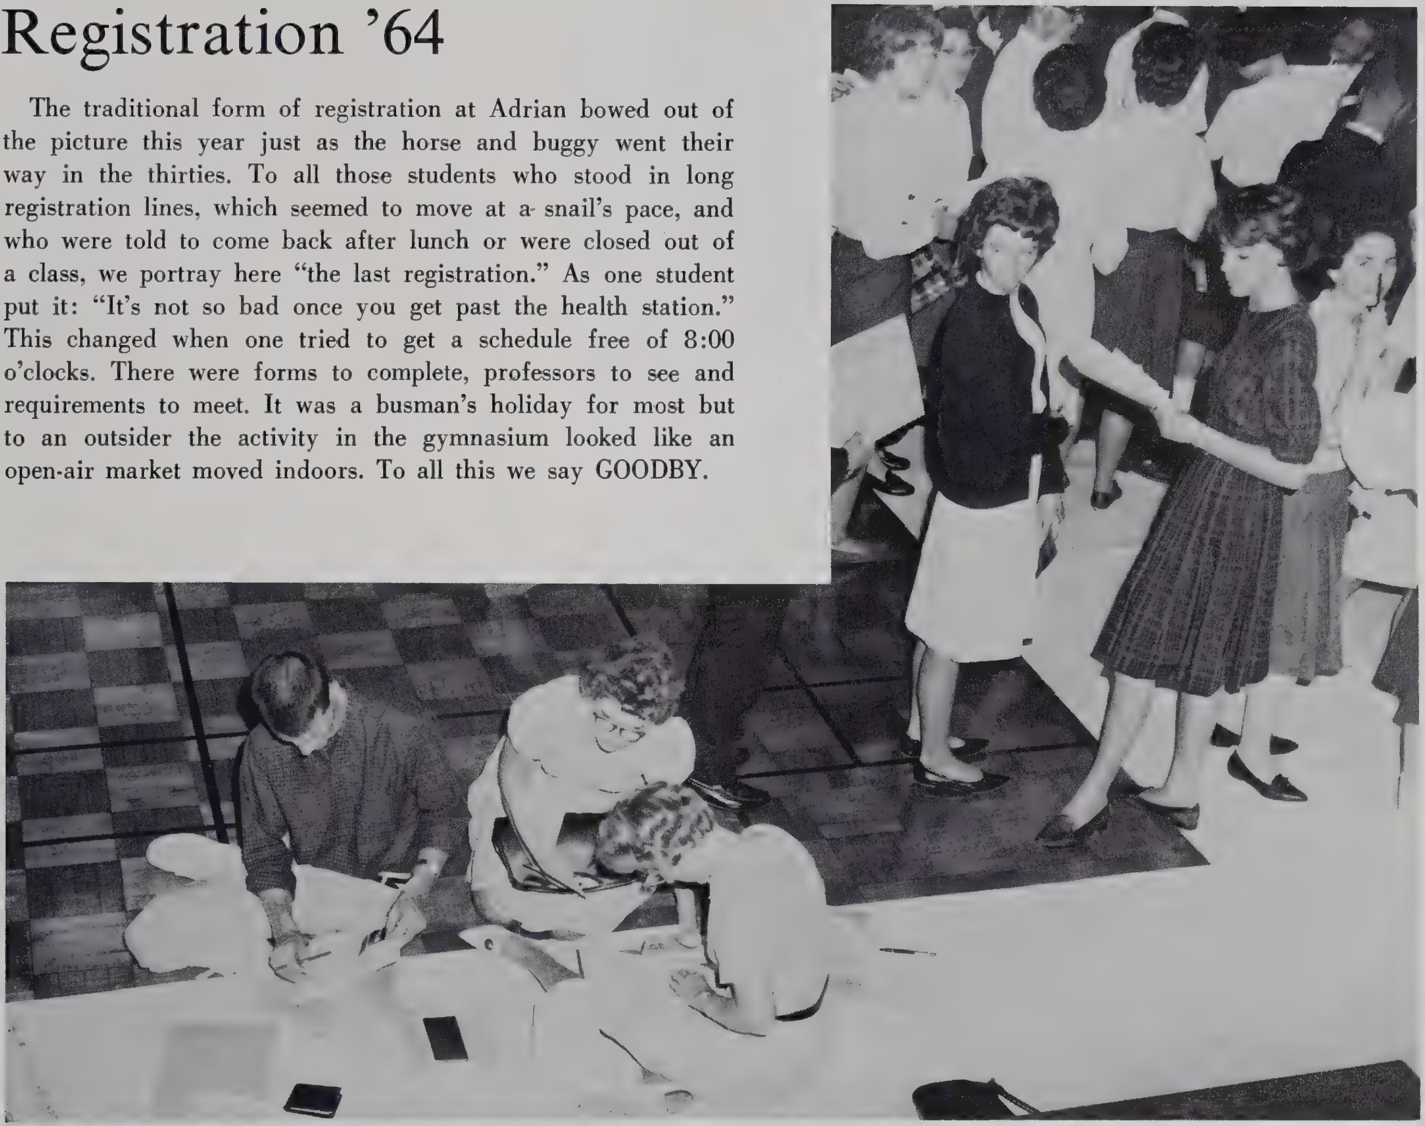
The end is in sight as frowns turn to smiles.

One would do well to bring a chair along to save the feet for running once inside.

Faculty members have plenty of time to help.

Registration '64

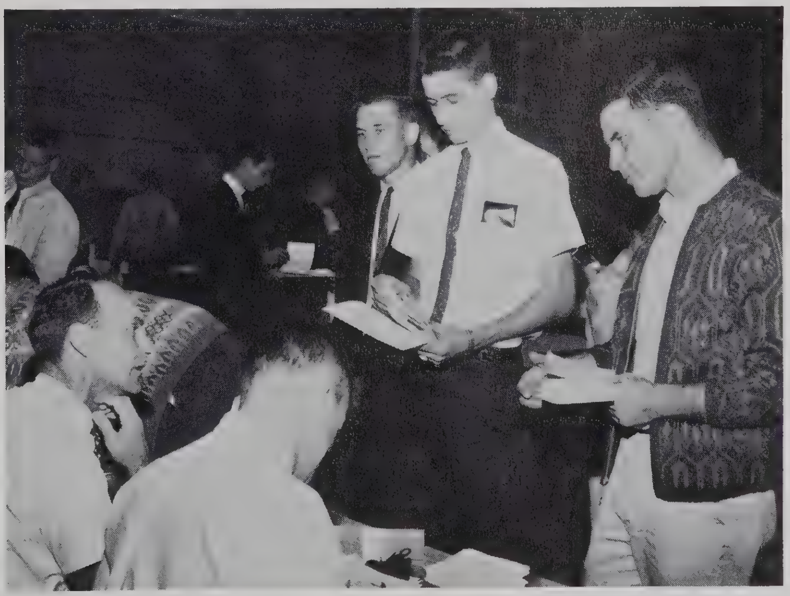
The traditional form of registration at Adrian bowed out of the picture this year just as the horse and buggy went their way in the thirties. To all those students who stood in long registration lines, which seemed to move at a snail's pace, and who were told to come back after lunch or were closed out of a class, we portray here "the last registration." As one student put it: "It's not so bad once you get past the health station." This changed when one tried to get a schedule free of 8:00 o'clocks. There were forms to complete, professors to see and requirements to meet. It was a busman's holiday for most but to an outsider the activity in the gymnasium looked like an open-air market moved indoors. To all this we say GOODBY.



After standing in line for what seemed like hours, even the floor feels like a cushion while completing registration cards.

More forms to complete! That's all I've done.

"Aw, come on, coach, make an exception for me, please."



At this stage of registration who can care.

One of the final stops included the pay station.

After registration it is to the bookstore to buy supplies.

"The 20th Century"

"The Twentieth Century" was a fitting theme for calling Alumni to the 1963 Homecoming. They viewed several new buildings as they made their way among the seventeen displays. Beautiful weather prevailed as the Bulldogs trampled Olivet with a score of 54-30. Highlighting the evening was the dance held in Ridge Gym with music by Skitch Henderson and his orchestra. Sharon Ross, and her court presented trophies to the winners with top honors going to ATO and SAE who tied in the best fraternity and best overall divisions. Homecoming closed on an awakening note as pranksters played "rock and roll" music over the Carillon Tower at 3:00 a.m. Monday morning.

Hanging of the Christmas Greens

Over 800 persons filled both dining rooms in Ritchie Hall for the 1963 Hanging of the Greens. After a waited meal of steak and all the trimmings everyone gathered in the Lenawee Room to sing carols and hear the story of how Mrs. Esther Pellowe, originated the tradition 20 years ago. Following the hanging of the wreath and singing Silent Night the Christmas spirit filled every corner of the campus.

"Deck the Halls with Boughs of Holly."

Favorite Christmas Carols were sung by over 800 in attendance.

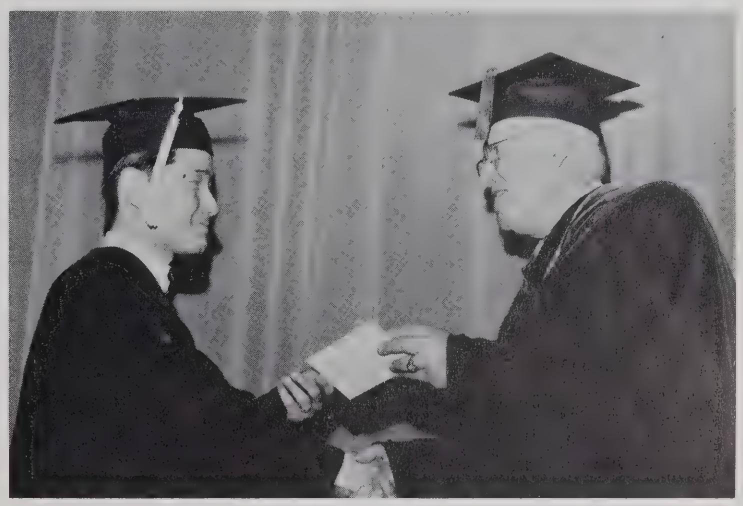
Three students tied for the Faculty Award, the second highest scholastic award: Judith Moore, Holly Puffer and Janet Bird.

Honors Convocation

Spring is the season when college students' thoughts turn to finals, graduation and the long awaited summer vacation. But for over eighty students, Friday, May 22, it was a highpoint in their college life. It was in Dawson Auditorium that these students received their reward for long hours at books. Highlighting this year's Senior Investiture and Honors Convocation was the senior gift to the college, a $10,000 life insurance policy on Bill Trudeau. Over thirty separate honors were presented, ranging from cash awards to trophies, to medallions, to recognition of achievement and nomination to national honor societies.

Hongman Lee won the Foreign Student Scholastic Award for the second year.



Benja Filkill receives her Scholarship Cup from Dean Brumbaugh. Pat Kottke also tied for this award.

Bill Trudeau, Senior Class President, receives the Outstanding Senior Award.

Baccalaureate was held in the New Adrian College Chapel. This was the first public event held in the new worship center.

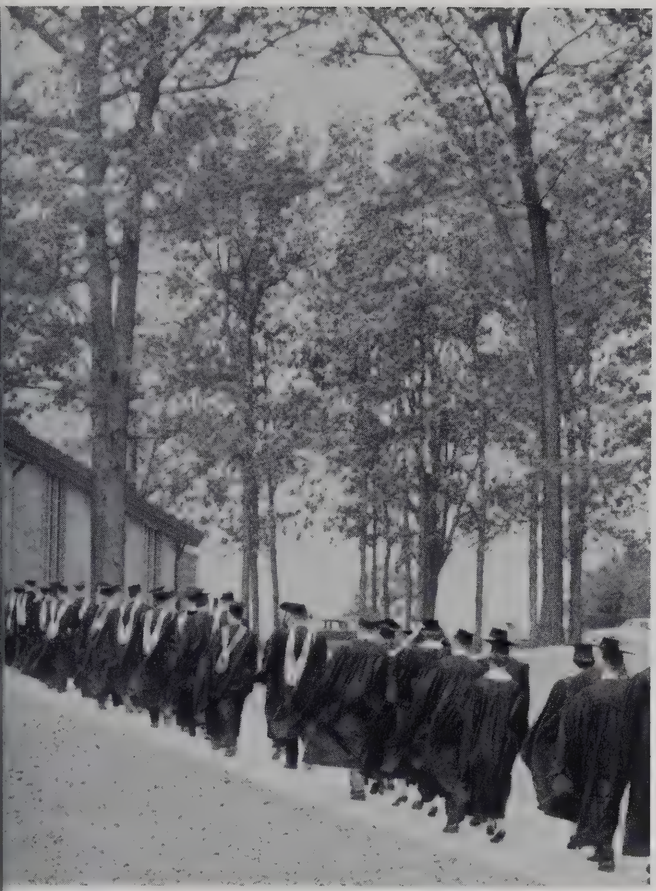
Commencement 119

Tradition was broken with the coming of the 119th annual Commencement exercises held May 31. This was the year that only those persons who completed all requirements for graduation were permitted to cross the stage and receive special recognition by receiving the diploma. In August the College hosted a dinner for all August graduates at which time diplomas were presented. Dr. William S. Carlson, president of the University of Toledo delivered the Commencement address entitled, "Education. For What?"

Dr. Carlson gets instruction.

How does this go?

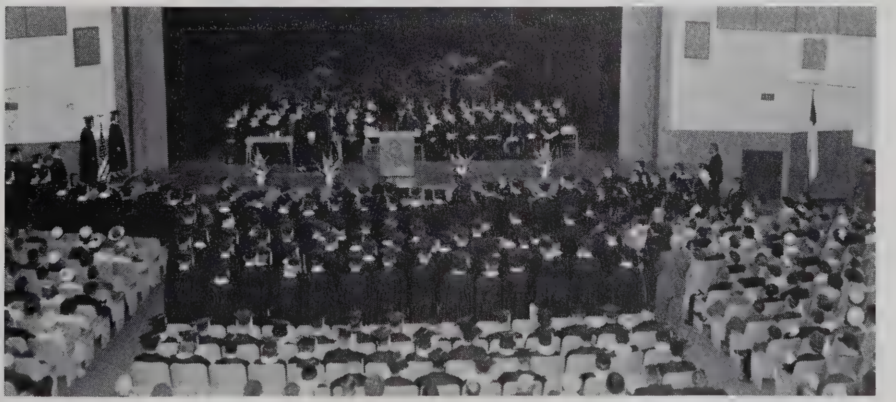
The largest graduating class in the history of the College made their way to Dawson Auditorium for Commencement.



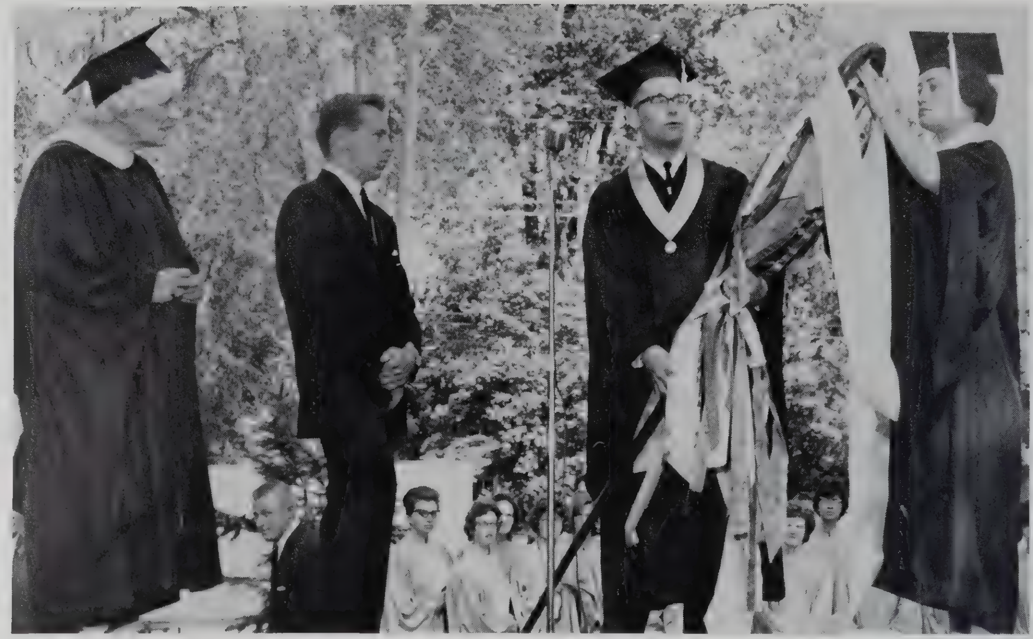
Several sentimental seniors studied the ceremonial cane.

Not all were in a serious mood. Some found humor in the solemn occasion.

For 170 seniors this trip across the stage of Dawson marked the end of the Adrian years.

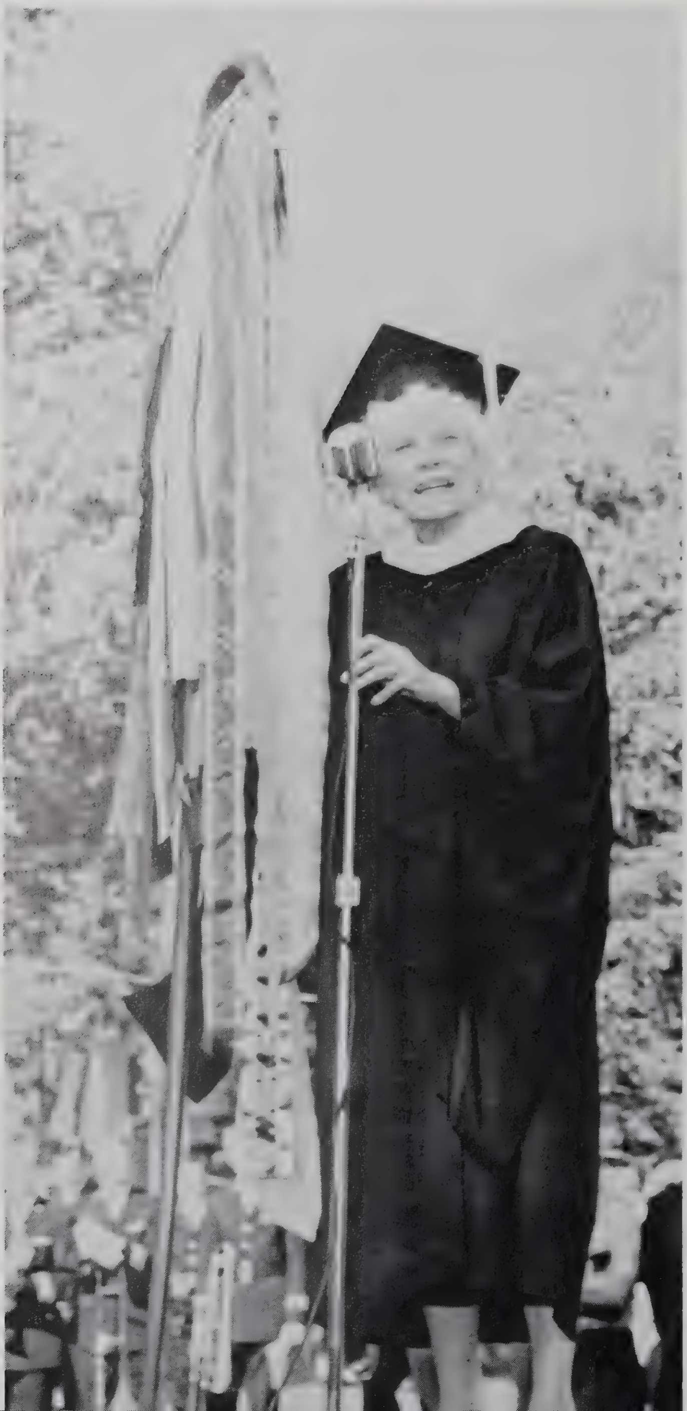


The photographer caught in the act.



The 1964 class colors are affixed thus carrying on tradition.

Mrs. Shipman's concise speech left the audience standing in awe.



Cane Exchange

"The Class of 1869, undaunted by war's hardships, used the good earth to build up this memorial Mound, Adrian's symbol of stability. In 1921 the cane ceremony glorified it into a tradition of Commencement—transferring a shepherd's crook from seniors to juniors signified changing responsibility for guiding younger classmen. Ninety classes have proudly affixed their colors to the crook . . . red for courage, blue for fidelity, white for purity . . . the whole meaningful spectrum. Older colors have faded but those added yearly reaffirm the ideals of all Adrian graduates who placed them there, then went out into the world prepared and unafraid."

These were the words of Mrs. Dorothy Shipman who officiated at the 1964 Cane Ceremony. Her concise speech which echoed across the campus, will long be remembered. Bill Trudeau, president of the senior class, challenged the juniors after which Linda Dee Hart tied the gold and white ribbon to the shepherd's crook. The cane was then passed to Bill Mapes, and another Commencement was over.

The junior class is now in charge.

Graduation Hawaii style.

Chappy's Face Tells the Score

All that starts well doesn't end well and the 1963 Adrian football season was such a case. "We could have done worse," said Coach Chappy Marvin "but we could have also done much better." After a fast start in which the Bulldogs won three of their first four contests, the team never again tasted victory. Yet Adrian dropped its last four decisions by a combined total of just 38 points—two key MIAA ones to Hope and Kalamazoo. MIAA coaches rated the Bulldog line the biggest in the conference and with Phil Kench and Bob Butz pacing a fine freshman pack, Adrian also developed one of the best backfields in the MIAA. The team loses only nine seniors and Marvin is hopeful of a 1964 season that will both start and end well. Adrian has not had even a break-even season overall since 1949. Seniors Jim Dumont and Fred Shumaker and sophomore Jim Wilkin, all stalwarts on the Adrian line, were chosen all-MIAA. Fullback Jim Hoke was named team "most valuable." Senior quarterback Tim Davies was named to the second squad of the all-Methodist national team selected by "Together" magazine. Perhaps the highlight of the Adrian campaign was the 54-30 Homecoming rout of Olivet. The Bulldogs did not win a contest afterwards.

"But we were perhaps the best improved team in the conference by season's end," added Moore, who will lose none through graduation in the fall. The team also had its first pair of twins, freshmen Bill and Bob Macomber from Trenton. Consistent Ed Wright was voted squad most valuable. Juniors Don Albertson and Carl DeMeritt received their third letters while Sandy Johnstone, number one man in 1962, was bothered by injury on and off.

Basketball Stars ★ ★ ★ Dick and Don

It was another transition season in Bulldog basketball—one between a disastrous 1-21 mark two seasons ago and what coach Gregg Arbaugh has every reason to believe will be a banner season next winter. The team finished in a tie for third in the MIAA with Kalamazoo at 6-6 and was 9-13 overall. Don Numbers was the lone senior on the squad, but the Ohio native swished 122 free throws for a new school record. Dick Seagert, a junior from Britton, had his best season at center with a record-breaking 336 rebounds. Both Numbers and Seagert were all-MIAA second team selections, and sophomore Mark Garrett received honorable mention.

Seagert was selected team "most valuable" by his teammates. Two "season highlights" included the Bulldogs' upset of the University of Windsor, the top Canadian college team, and in their last home contest, a near-record 107 points against Aquinas. A new mark for most field goals in an MIAA contest—43—was set in a 93-78 win at Albion. The Bulldogs participated in the Wooster classic New Year's tournament in Ohio and were in all but five of their contests all the way. While the 63-64 season could have been worse, Arbaugh cannot see how the next one can be.

Wrestling was initiated into the total program four years ago and since then the squad has grown to 14. Coach Marvin says wrestling, much like track and tennis, is both an individual and team sport. This year nine men lettered under the captainship of John Jimenez. Vic Ringkvist was top man on the team winning 11 of his 13 matches and later being named most valuable player.

Baseball

Eight seems to be a magic number for the Bulldog baseball team. For the last four seasons Adrian has had no less and no more than eight over-all wins. Coaches Howard Emrick and Chappy Marvin also saw their team end with the same 6-6 MIAA mark as last season. But while it was a season of status quo in record, it was a season of promise in performance. Jim Hoke, who led Adrian hitters with four homers, and Bill Reel were the lone seniors. The "most valuable player" award went to freshman shortstop Chuck Rinehart while another freshman, Dave Anderson, led the mound staff with four wins. Rinehart was also named to the all-MIAA second team. The team took two conference doubleheaders, one a forfeit by Olivet and the other a 7-0 and 2-1 sweep of Kalamazoo that briefly put the Bulldogs in first in the MIAA. The breakeven conference mark was good for a fifth place finish, Adrian dropping three league decisions by one run.

May Day, 1964—It will be a day to remember for the Bulldog golf team. Adrian ended a 40-match losing streak that afternoon with a 10-6 win over Spring Arbor. "We were good publicity while the streak was going," said coach Bob Gillis. "Now it's back to normal." Normal for Adrian unfortunately was another three match losing streak by the end of the season and a last place finish in the MIAA match. The faculty also gained revenge for the varsity's win in the Golden Ball tournament last season, turning back the six-man squad 31½-9½. Senior George Peat was named "most valuable" and freshman Jerry Smith received the duffer's award.

Tennis

Two wins don't make a season but when a team was winless the season before and doesn't have a match site the wins can be cause for celebration. This was the case with the Bulldog netters as coach Gregg Arbaugh's squad ended a ten-match losing streak in its opener with Defiance and then initiated its new Charles Street courts with a 5-2 MIAA win over Olivet. The six-man squad, consisting of one freshman, two sophomores and three juniors, all lettered. The doubles team, including Jim Ingham and Frank Fitchko, took the consolation title in the number two event at the MIAA matches at Albion. Fitchko was named the team's "most valuable."

Track

Four new school records were set by the Adrian College track team as they closed the season with an overall mark which went down but with an MIAA finish that went up. Coach Tom Allen's thinclads started the season with two big wins over Defiance and Kalamazoo but were forced to come back to earth and accept three conference losses to Albion, Calvin and Hope. When all was said and tallied, Adrian tied for fourth with Kalamazoo in the conference. For the third consecutive year John Fundukian, the lone senior on the squad, was named "most valuable." He set a new 100 yard dash record by running it in 9.6 seconds. Clocking 43.5 seconds, the Adrian 440 yard relay team set a new league and school mark. The mile relay record set in 1949 was lowered by two-tenths of a second during this year's running. It now stands at 3:29.7. Roger Davidson set the pace for the 330 yard hurdles which was initiated into the track program this year.

Education is like TIME, it never stops, it never goes backward and once it is gained no one can steal it. College is a watchsmith's shop from which new tools of learning are made available. These tools will do little good unless they are properly used in the lives of each person who receives this education. At Adrian the basic tools are issued in five major areas called Divisions. The next ten pages will describe one department in each Division, each of which contributes to the total educational picture and in turn perpetuates time.

I. Music is one of the oldest of the fine arts and when conversation turns to the humanities, Music is among the leaders.

II. Science is the backbone of our nation's strength and Biology is a forerunner to other areas of Natural Sciences.

III. The Industrial Revolution brought about "Big Business" which leads Business Administration to be a leader in the Social Sciences.

IV. Through the ages man has had to live with himself but today we study the mind of man under the heading of Psychology.

V. Education, like time, must start somewhere, to many it is in the home, but the formal education is left to the school necessitating Elementary Education.

Division I

Music is among the oldest of our fine arts.

ORGANIZATIONS

ADRIANIUM COLLEGIUM
ADRIANIÆ MARTII 28 1859

Organizations

Through the years men have banded together whenever the forces of a common interest overpowers the desire for individuality. At Adrian more than forty clubs have organized to meet the desires of students holding common interest. Many more groups, though not formally recognized, assemble to fulfill a want of several students and search for others having the same interest; in a service, sport, hobby, talent or professional endeavor. At Adrian extracurricular points are awarded to persons taking an active part in one or more of the wide array of clubs and organizations. These points are not a reward for membership but an incentive to students to fulfill part of the purpose of the College, which includes providing suitable training for each student in the areas of his or her professional, social, cultural and spiritual nurture.

The Union serves as a good place to gather and negotiate plans.

Six freshmen banded together because they enjoyed singing together.

Dormitory life is an informal organization.

Indian Dance found its way to campus and serves to entertain campus and community groups.

Social Fraternities and Sororities

Fraternalism is the Crux of social development for Adrian College students. The Four sororities and five fraternities have, as their members, nearly thirty percent of the total full-time enrollment of the College and sponsor more social activities than the balance of the student organizations. From this segment of the College comes most of the campus leaders and a large percentage of the competitive spirit. This competitive spirit is keenly sensed at homecoming, the All-College Sing, and in the scholastic race. In its truest sense, Fraternalism at Adrian helps unite the students and affords numerous leadership opportunities within the group as well as their campus representative groups, I.F.C. and Panhellenic Council. After pledging comes many years of service to the group and College, for it is through giving that one reaps the bigger harvest in an organization.

From this point on fraternities or sororities tax the time and talent of every member.

Fraternities and sororities serve the community in various ways from entertaining orphans to visiting the aged.

Sigma Sigma Sigma

The Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority completed another year of work and fun. The year began with a flourish as the girls worked to perfect a display for Homecoming. Next, on into rush with parties and fun for all. As the year went on the girls spent many hours practicing for the All-College Sing, and working to make their spring formal a memorable time for both the girls and their dates.

Aside from the fun projects, the girls also found time to sell hot-dogs in the dorms for their money making project, and the pledges gave a party for the children of the Eastern Star Villa.

The girls are eagerly looking forward to their first meeting in the fall, when their apartment will again overflow with busy activity.

Cooking is done on a rotation basis in the Tri Sigma apartment.

Chi Omega

The Sisters of Chi Omega have been very active this year, and one often sees them scurrying to and from their sorority room in the basement of Estes Hall. In the fall two serenades began the year's activities, and then two sisters, Nancy Curry and Linda Kapnick, represented Chi Omega in the Homecoming Court. The girl-ask-boy Jungle Dance, two fashion shows sponsored by Gordon's, an annual Christmas party for underprivileged children and Spring Formal were a few activities in which Chi Omega participated this year. The girls also participated in and won the women's chorus division of All-College Sing with a "Serenade by night" under the direction of Kay Smith.

The girls welcomed their new pledge class.

Beta Psi Zeta

Did you ever wonder why a light was burning in a window on second floor Metcalf on Monday nights? This is the room which the 1963 pledges of Beta Psi Zeta remodeled for the weekly sorority meetings. However you may find a Beta there at almost any hour of the day, studying in the quiet, working on a sorority project, or merely chatting with a sister.

The Beta's had a very busy year. They worked many hours on their display for Homecoming, held a tea for their alumnae, had a program for their parents on Parent's Day, survived rush week, and then settled down to a period of pledge training. The Beta service project this year was entertaining at the Stephen's Home. During the year the girls presented several programs, much to the delight of the elderly people living in the home.

Alpha Phi

The little red house at the corner of Madison and College Avenue saw another very active year for the Alpha Phi's. The girls began the year by "Raiding Olivet" with a winning Homecoming display. Sharon Ross, Carol Sullins, and Sue Coffey also represented Alpha Phi as members of the Homecoming Court. Sharon Ross, who was chosen queen, was later named as one of the five finalists in the Miss Michigan Coed Contest. Early in the year, the Delta Eta participated in a College Fashion Show at Kline's Dept. Store, and then began to make plans for Christmas projects. This year the sisters wrapped gifts for the Kiwanis Club, held a skating party for the girls at the Training School, and sponsored an All-College Christmas Dance. In addition, the girls spent many hours studying and won the College Scholarship Award. Still the members found time to visit Maple Lane Manor, sell ice cream in the dormitories, hold a Parent's Day Banquet, work as slaves for fraternities on Saturday afternoons, and participate in all campus events. The year was topped off with the annual Spring Formal at the Continental Inn in Toledo.

Alpha Phi add their fair share to "the rock."

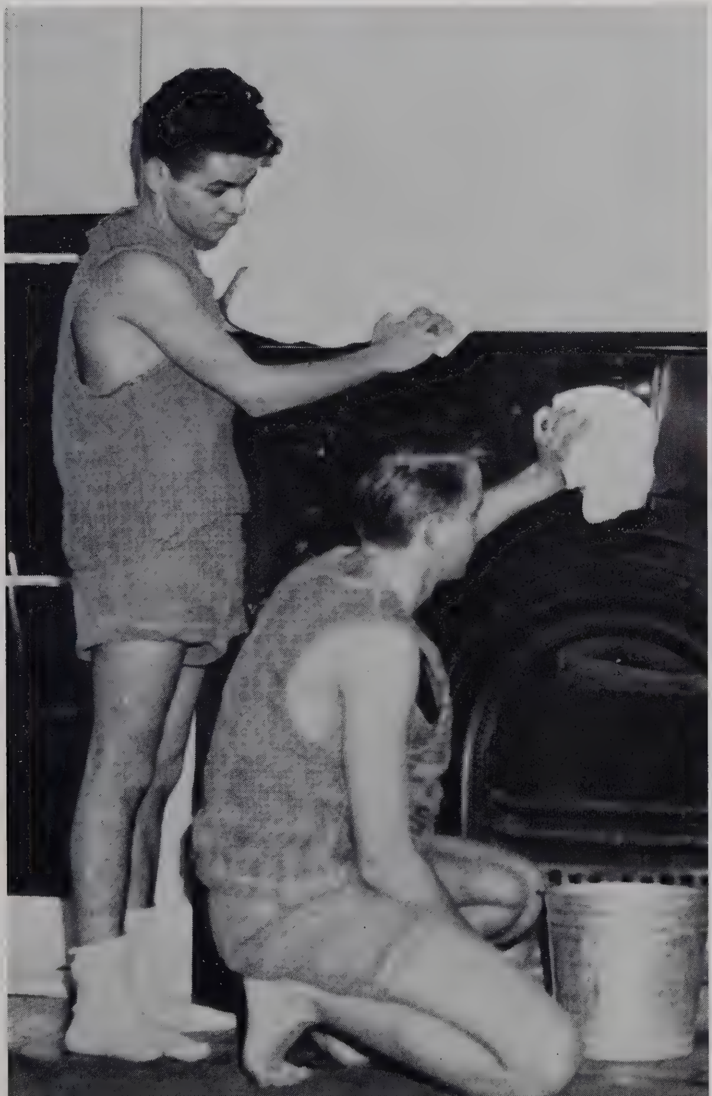
The brothers add the "homemaker's touch" to their new home.



Tau Kappa Epsilon

If one would evaluate the activities of Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity during the past year and select one event which would highlight their entire year, he would have to choose the selection of a Fraternity House. On February 1, the Brothers completed the necessary papers to purchase the house from Milton Porter. It is a colonial building located at 570 West Maumee. Sixteen members live in the house which has thirteen rooms and a full basement which is used for a Chapter Room.

The men spent many hours redecorating the house as well as securing furniture, draperies, carpets and everything else that goes to make a house a home. Members of TKE earned some of the money to furnish the house by sponsoring numerous car washes and other service activities.

In addition to the purchase of the house, the TKE men strive to perfect fraternalism through such activities as homecoming displays, which this year was located at the northeast corner of Dawson Auditorium. The group joined their voices in the All-College Sing which helped to unite the bonds of fraternalism and foster the true meaning of TKE. They were quite active in the intramural program and their own social activities.

It is tradition for the TKE's to burn a large badge of the Fraternity in front of the dormitory at a serenade or a pinning ceremony. During the spring formal, which was held at the Bill Cone's Restaurant in Jackson, Sandy Hawk, the wife of brother Robert Hawk, received the title Sweetheart of TKE.

Aside from all the bustling activity, there are many hours of study.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon

The meaning of the word "brother" became very clear to Sigma Alpha Epsilon this year as the brothers participated in the community Big Brother program. Working with the Lenawee Youth Center and serving as Gray Y leaders, they provided big brothers for many Adrian youth. Throughout the year, they raised money for their projects by sponsoring car washes and pledge collection of pop bottles. During the Christmas season, they held a Christmas party for underprivileged children.

In the college community, the SAE's tied for first place in the fraternity division of the Homecoming display contest and also tied for the best overall display. They won the Intramural trophy for having the greatest number of accumulated points and had the top individual winner. Their spring formal, held at the Inn Americanna in Ann Arbor, found Carol Hicks being crowned as the SAE sweetheart.

The year of activity was completed with the brothers holding their own commencement ceremonies immediately following the College festivities. After a round of guest speakers, the brothers bid farewell to their graduating members.

The brothers spent many hours in yard work.

Psi Sigma Rho

The Psi Sigs, being a local fraternity, devote themselves completely to the college community. Psi Sigma Rho is based upon the principles of brotherhood, equality, dependability, tolerance, and school spirit. With these goals in mind the brothers have entered whole-heartedly into campus life. Activities for the year include sorority-fraternity parties, participation in the All-College Sing, service projects, such as a Christmas party held for orphans, open houses, numerous closed parties, and all events sponsored by the Inter-Fraternity Council.

Along with these planned activities, the brothers are kept busy putting their newly acquired house on Williams Street in proper order and engaging in such campus activities as intramural sports. One honor of which Psi Sigma Rho is very proud is that of having the winning men's quartet in the All-College Sing competition.

Ritchie Hall was turned into LasVegas for ATO Rush Party.

Alpha Tau Omega

The brothers of Alpha Tau Omega returned to the Cornelius Memorial House in September determined to make a name for their fraternity. Their achievements and activities throughout the year left their mark for historians to ponder. The year started with scholastic recognition, for the fraternity won one of seven Scholarship Plaques presented by their National Officers at the annual meeting held at Bowling Green State University. This fine lift started the ball rolling as they built their homecoming display which tied with the Sigs for top honors. Between major campus activities the men took considerable interest in both the intramural and intercollegiate athletic programs. This year they entered at least one team in almost every program of the intramural program. ATO captured the top award in Swimming, Volleyball, and Archery. Following their "Christmas Vacation" the brothers began to campaign for good-will and rush for new pledges which netted them 22 during formal rush. Spring brought with it a newness of life as the men joined their voices at the All College Sing and carried off the Chorus Trophy for the third straight year thus retiring it to custody of the house. Spring also brought the end of another year which ended on a wet note for both actives and pledges as well as some innocent bystanders.

"All in favor of dissolving ACC raise your hand."

American Commons Club

In April, 1964, a special national convention of ACC was held at Adrian and at this time the national association was dissolved. The date of complete disbandment was set as June 15. The feeling was that each chapter could decide for itself whether it wanted to remain local or join itself to a strong Greek national fraternity. This decision to dissolve was made after careful consideration of the fact that the four major ideals are now incorporated into many Greek letter fraternities. ACC officers return in the Fall of 1964 as a new chapter of one of the largest fraternities in the country.

The Adrian Chapter of the American Association of Commons Clubs was founded on this campus in January, 1936, by two members of each of the recognized Greek letter fraternities already established at Adrian. The fraternity became unique on Adrian's campus because it joined itself with an American letter fraternity. ACC has four ideals that it is dedicated to: Democracy, Brotherhood, University First and the Open Door Policy. Over the years, ACC has been a social fraternity dedicated to the promotion of school ideals. They have held the scholastic cup more times than any other fraternity and during the past year ACC retired it permanently to their trophy room. Some highlights of the past year include: The Homecoming display, hosting of a special national convention that took place in April, and the yearly spring formal at which Jan Copeland was crowned sweetheart of ACC.

Panhellenic

The Panhellenic Council is composed of two representatives from each sorority on campus. These women are in charge of the rushing and pledging procedures to be followed by all of the sororities and they support all campus activities. The Panhellenic Council strives to encourage intellectual accomplishment, high scholarship, and excellent social standards among the sorority members of Adrian College.

IFC

The Inter-Fraternity Council is composed of three members from each of the five fraternal organizations. These men supervise rushing procedures, pledging rules, and fraternity functions. With the fast-growing fraternity system on Adrian's campus, the IFC has had to work hard in accepting the responsibilities as the governing body of the fraternities. The Council studies and encourages fraternity ideals, and enforces those rules which custom has established.

Both those who have had previous experience in yearbook publication and those who are willing to learn the many phases of such an endeavor may find their place on the Mound. Next year the staff is seeking an office of their own where they may really feel at home in their work.

The 1963 Mound brought the College recognition in that its cover received honorable mention in the annual Michigan Collegiate Press Association yearbook contest.

With the guidance of its advisors, the Council functions to promote religious activity and expression on the campus. Religion in Life Week is the main annual activity of the Council, and this year Reverend Philip Townley, the principal speaker, gave many excellent talks on subjects that are interesting and pertinent to college students.

Wesley

Wesley Fellowship is a student organization which offers an extensive program of religious activities and service projects. Meetings are held every Sunday night with a variety of programs designed to foster the mental and spiritual growth of a college student. Wesley sponsors movies and dances throughout the year, and the group tries to do its part to benefit the campus and provide for the enrichment of the students' religious life.

Lambda Iota Tau is an international honorary fraternity for students interested in literature and in creative writing. One must have completed at least nine hours of English above Freshman English and have maintained a "B" average in order to be eligible for membership. The group discusses current and classical literature under the direction of various members of the English department. They also sponsor movies for the enjoyment of all Adrian students.

Lettermen

There's more to being in the Lettermen's Club than merely wearing a big, yellow "A" on a black, varsity sweater. Behind every letter there are many hours of hard work in addition to the hours spent on an athletic field, for in order to earn a letter sweater an athlete must obtain a certain number of points. This is done by selling refreshments at the various athletic events, and participating in any other fund raising activities the club may sponsor throughout the year.

The girls swim, not only for personal pleasure and improvement, but, they also arrange numbers for competition with other schools. The Intercollegiate swim meet was held at the University of Michigan this year and colleges from throughout the midwest gathered to test their skills.

Ski Club

With the ski bug biting American college students, Adrian is not to be "outdone." The members of the club have enjoyed local skiing and trips to Mount Holly and Boyne Mountain. There is no need to be an accomplished skier to join the ski club, only the proper equipment and "a padded posterior" are required.

Political Science

One of our most recently formed clubs on campus is the Political Science Club which was organized in 1962. The club stimulates political interest both on and off campus and offers opportunities for members of any political party to better understand the different forms of government. It offers students lively discussion and interesting special activities.

Young Republicans

The Young Republican's Club is organized for the purpose of bringing young people into the Republican Party and, once they are in the party, giving them an opportunity to express themselves politically. This club is affiliated with the American Federation of Young Republican Clubs. Another important function of this club is to collect, analyze, and discuss information concerning political affairs.

College Choir—First Semester

Choir

Campus was really "humming" May 7 as the Adrian College Choir hosted the Seventh Bi-ennial Michigan Intercollegiate Choral Festival in Dawson Auditorium. This event highlighted the year for the seven college choirs representing Andrews University, Hillsdale, Hope, Olivet, Calvin and Adrian College. Special risers were constructed on the stage to accommodate the 428 participants, which were accompanied by a 50-piece orchestra.

As part of the Christmas on Campus activities this year, members of the College Band and Choir presented an hour-long assembly. Special numbers by faculty members and students were well received by the student audience. Several members of the College Choir also sang in various church choirs in Adrian and in their hometown. This year members of the Choir joined the First Methodist Church Choir in singing for Baccalaureate Service. Later the same day they sang for Commencement and the Cane Ceremony.

Colorful costumes added beauty to the music of the Christmas Assembly.

International Club; Row I: V. Bovonratanaruck, D. Shipman, Adv.; H. Lee. Row II: S. Sasaki, A. Masuda, A. Samudio.

International Club

Adrian College has its own small version of the United Nations in the form of its International Club, which is composed of students from one end of the globe to the other. Some of the members, however, are not from foreign countries, but are citizens of the United States. The members are particularly interested in promoting friendship between other countries and the United States. They do this by participating in various community service projects and conducting programs about their homelands.

Circle K

Circle K, an international service club affiliated with and sponsored by the Kiwanis International, is open to all male students at Adrian.

The organization exists to aid the people of the campus and the community. They meet the needs of the community by sponsoring a dance for the Girls' Training School and by holding benefits for hospitals and orphanages. They also sponsored a dance for the students at Adrian with the proceeds going to the March of Dimes.

Major Cole

The Major Cole Association is a fellowship of male students, who plan to enter either the Christian ministry or some other form of Christian life at home or abroad. The organization was named for the famous Major James H. Cole, who was especially interested in those students who were preparing for the ministry. Major Cole meets each Wednesday evening for business, study, worship, and discussions of religious and vocational interest.

Alpha Delta Chi

Alpha Delta Chi are the Greek words which, when translated into English, mean "Man Serving Christ." The purpose of ADX is to provide fellowship, inspiration, education, and worthwhile experience in Christian living, and the organization is open to all women students. This group sponsors many social events during the year, and participates in such campus events as Homecoming and All-College Sing.

The club plans programs of interest for its members to acquaint them with the ways of Spanish people. Club members annually gather for a meal of Spanish food in the Estes Lounge.

German Club

The German Club roster includes students studying German, faculty members, and German speaking people of the community. The members try to make their programs authentic by creating the style of a German home. One of their most important service projects is sending food and clothing to needy families in Germany.

W.R.A.

One of the biggest social functions held at Adrian College is the annual "Bid Dance" sponsored by the Women's Recreation Association. This dance, planned and executed solely through the work of the W.R.A. members, is Adrian's version of the famed Sadie Hawkins Dance where the girl asks the boy for the date. Money for this event is earned throughout the year by selling concessions at football and basketball games, which means getting out in all kinds of weather. This endeavor not only brings in money, but helps fulfill one of their major objectives of promoting better school spirit among all students. This year W.R.A. served as hosts to several intercollegiate functions climaxed by the women's tennis and archery tournaments.

A.W.S.

The mammoth chore of coordinating activities of all women students at Adrian including the commuting student falls into the hands of the Association of Women Students. It is primarily this organization's duty to regulate their own rules and policies governing hours and campus behavior. Through A.W.S. every woman has a voice but the power to legislate is left to the Executive Council, including the elected officers, the dormitory mentors, fire marshals, and a town representative. All women students are invited to attend their regular meetings which are generally held in Melbourne Lounge. Throughout the year A.W.S. sponsors a Big-Little Sister Tea, Dormitory Christmas parties and the annual Senior Women's Recognition Breakfast.

ADRIAN COLLEGE BAND

Dawson Auditorium served as a practice area for the concert band.

College Bands

Sparked by an energetic freshman drum major, the Adrian College Band blasted-off for a full year of activity last fall by playing at the Homecoming football game. Dressed in their smart cardinal and black uniforms, the band took the field as the crowd applauded their first attempt in several years to add color to the game. Mr. Benner's enthusiasm increased with the progressive band which led them through several concerts including the Christmas program and Commencement exercises. Interest for several ensemble groups was stimulated by the purchase of new instruments.

New concert basses were a welcomed addition.

Band members gave of their time to entertain visitors prior to several home football games.

College World; Row I: R. McGrath, J. Hoke, editor; T. Rea. Row II: C. Doinidis, B. Norton.

"College World"

"An outstanding small newspaper in an outstanding small college" is the phrase that meets the eye of Adrian students every other week as they grab the latest issue of the college newspaper. The newspaper keeps students up-to-date on college happenings and expresses the views of those students who have the initiative to support them. Though not a literary masterpiece, the World serves its function very well. As one walks around campus, he sees College Worlds being carefully scanned and then tucked into notebooks to be saved for posterity.

Men's Res. Council

Unifying the activities of Adrian men has become progressively Herculean during the past few years with the completion of four dormitories. For this reason, leaders in each of these residence halls saw the need and organized the Men's Residence Council in 1963. The MRC is an outlet for personal recognition as well as a source for individual identity. They serve to foster scholarship, athletic and social development, and to monitor the feeling of the male residents relaying them to the proper administrative officers.

Theta Alpha Phi

Theta Alpha Phi is a national dramatic fraternity with membership open to qualified sophomores and upperclassmen. For qualification, a student must participate in dramatic activities having a combination of two major roles and one minor role, or four minor roles. The purpose of the organization is to develop an understanding and appreciation of the creative arts of the theater. The members started the year with the presentation of a one-act play, "The Sandbox," in October. They also support and take part in all other campus theater activities.

S.E.A.

The blackboard in North Hall often carries a message similar to this: "S.E.A. Meeting Tonight at 7:30." The Adrian College Chapter of S.E.A., The Student Education Association, was founded in the fall of 1962, and since that time its membership of education majors has grown by leaps and bounds. Its programs of guest speakers, panels, and mock interviews are designed to aid all students of education. This year much time and energy was put into radio broadcasts, articles in the college and town newspapers, and a display in the Union for American Education Week.

Home Ec. Club

The Home Economics Club is open to anyone who is enrolled in a home economics course or who has had at least one semester of home economics. The club meets once a month and is entertained throughout the year by many guest speakers. Their biggest event of the year is the program which is presented for the Girls' Training School. The purpose of this organization is to create an interest in home economics through educational and social problems.

Usher Corps

The Usher Corps, founded to serve the College and the community, is the first line of public relations between the College and the Lenawee community. Their responsibility is to make the patrons comfortable so that their evening will be enjoyable. By setting the proper frame of mind of the patron, the usher is assisting the performer for otherwise the artist will have to overcome the hostility. Any student who is interested in joining this personally rewarding service is welcomed.

Alpha Chi

At an impressive candle lighting ceremony in the Tobias Room of the Dining Center on Friday evening, April 24, nine women and two men made history for the College and Michigan. The evening marked the introduction of Alpha Chi to the state and to Adrian College. Alpha Chi is a National Honor Society having 58 other chapters scattered throughout the country. Dr. John J. Schwab, president of the national organization and a member of the Trinity University faculty presided over the ceremony and presented the charter. Alpha Chi encourages sound scholarship and devotion to the truth. It is opposed to bigotry, narrowness and discrimination on any basis other than genuine worth. Only juniors and seniors ranking in the top ten per cent of the class are eligible for membership. Drs. Earle Labor and William Mays will serve as faculty advisors to the Michigan Alpha Chapter which now joins over 25,000 other students on the national membership roster.

Student Union

The Student Union Council is the student governing body of Adrian College and is composed of representatives from all recognized campus organizations. The students operate under the direction and advice of the faculty.

The Student Union sponsors many activities throughout the year for the benefit of all students, alumni, and friends of the College. Two large annual events fostered by this group are Homecoming and All-College Sing. This year the Student Union was able to present two evenings of enjoyment by bringing two well known groups to campus, "The Lettermen" and "The Four Freshmen."

This year the Student Union has also taken steps to further advance our campus. A suggestion box has been placed in North Hall so that the organization can be made aware of student problems and deal effectively with them. A large map of the U. S. has been hung in Rush Union to enable students to find rides and riders for vacations and visits home. Finally, tentative plans are being developed for the expansion of Rush Union.

Judy Warner sells another ticket for "The Lettermen."

SQUIRT CHARACTER
BOTTLE-MEDALLION WATERLESS DECAL

This [illegible] decal gives long [illegible] identification at exceptionally low cost. Being a dry decal it needs no water or special tools for mounting and application is therefore only a matter of seconds. It's definitely [illegible] in every sense of the word and not a [illegible] sensitive piece. Incorporating all three of our most important elements — character, bottle and medallion — it can be used in an unlimited number of locations. Designed as a single purpose decal it goes on the outside of windows or on any [illegible] smooth opaque surfaces like coolers, vendors, trucks, walls, mirrors, etc.

Since there are lots of places where lack of space necessitates a smaller sized decal, this decal comes in a 12" height (D-11A) in addition to the 17" size (D-17A).

A Final Note on the 1964 MOUND

For the past 183 pages, the staff of the 1964 MOUND have attempted to record with pictures and words the events which have helped mold the lives of Adrian College students during the past year. This page was reserved for a final comment and for an expression of gratitude to the numerous people who have helped make this book a success.

THE EDITOR'S NOTE

Why have a yearbook? Many times during this past year I have asked myself this question. Why have a yearbook if the students who draw the greatest benefits from it are not interested enough to lend a helping hand in its completion. The students began the year with various amounts of enthusiasm and numerous ideas concerning the yearbook. As the year continued, enthusiasm began to wane and before I knew it, no one seemed available to help finish the task they had begun. It really isn't fair to say that no one was available to finish the book, because there were a few students available whenever I called upon them. I only wish they had the initiative to work whenever time allowed instead of only when I asked them for help. Others were always volunteering to help. I only wish I knew how to keep these students enthusiastic enough to work hard enough during the year so that I could enjoy my vacation instead of completing the jobs others should have completed last fall.
